nopa instruments For decades, nopa® has been occupied with medical products and in particular THEATRE quality surgical instruments. In this, they have a sense of duty not only towards traditional instrumentation, but also to technical progress.

Keeping a keen eye on developments in the complete spectrum of instruments and how these are affected by new operating techniques, enables nopa® to remain at the forefront of emerging trends with committed R&D and manufacturing resources.

The strength of nopa® lies in practical, precise and high quality instruments. These are produced by qualified specialists using the most modern manufacturing methods and processes.

The starting point for nopa® instruments is German raw materials as documented on their products with the inscription "Germany stainless".

nopa® is particularly well equipped for both production in large quantities as well as for specialised items.

The paramount guiding principle throughout the company is customer satisfaction. For this reason quality is a priority, not only in the products which are manufactured and supplied, but in all areas within the company.

Quality management is therefore to be found at all levels; in administration, production and despatch. nopa® carries ISO 9001 certification.

Being able to deliver a wide range of articles and at short notice is today, more important than ever before. For this reason, nopa® maintains large inventory levels for their customers in 60 countries throughout the world.

Coupled with value for money, nopa® surgical instruments should be the first choice for your theatre, specialist or general practice needs.

From a humble beginning in 1982 located in a small section within another warehouse, L.R. Instruments have grown into a multi-national company.

1987: 5 years on from the humble beginning

History of L.R. instruments

In JULY 1982, Lionel Richards decided to set up a medical supply company to supply surgical and medical equipment to the trade at a competitive price. Our beginnings were humble with a chair, a kitchen table, two Visacards at $1,000.00 each and a rusted out Falcon car. First years turnover was $66,258.00.

We moved into our first warehouse at 651 Waterdale Road Heidelberg in 1984 and then onto Korong Road in 1986. From 1982 to 1990 we shared the warehouses with transport companies owned by Lionel's brothers. L.R. Instruments was only in a small corner of their warehouses.

In 1990 L.R. Instruments moved into its first warehouse on its own in Ringwood. At this time we had 3 employees including Lionel Richards. Over the next few years, the company grew at an annual rate of 27%, going from a very small company into a medium size one. By 2000, there were 8 staff working, 6 in Melbourne, 1 in Sydney and 1 in Queensland.

In 2004, due to the rapid expansion of the company, we had to move out of Unit 2-160 New Street into a larger warehouse at Unit 7-100 New Street Ringwood. We moved from a 300 sq metre warehouse into a 1,600 sq metre warehouse. This was a great move for us, as it gave us room to expand.

In 2006 L.R. Instruments Pty Ltd established its first office in New Zealand and now employs 5 staff in this office. L.R. Instruments Pty Ltd currently employs 23 people in Australia and New Zealand.

2007: offices and warehouse at New Street, Ringwood VIC

From Lionel Richards

I personally would like to thank all my staff and especially our clients for all their support over the last 25 years. Without all these dedicated people, their is no way we would have achieved our success. What we have achieved is a dream come true for me personally, to work with people you enjoy spending your time with and to deal with clients, a lot of whom I call friends. I hope the future is as good as the past!

Thank You!

Since 1947, our company has been manufacturing and distributing high-quality surgical instruments and medical equipment that have gained a world-wide reputation for excellence. We view our past success and, in particular, our responsibility towards the surgeon and the patient as an obligation to continue to focus our skill, experience and creativity on advancing the art of medical technology in the future.

A high development potential and more than 50 years of experience in medical engineering have made LAWTON a reliable partner in the medical sector.

The production and delivery range currently embraces more than 12,000 different products and is today marketed through LAWTON's world-wide network of dealers.

The high requirements of the DIN EN ISO 9001 requirement in conjunction with the additional medical standard DIN EN ISO 13485 guarantee the high quality standard and model fidelity of all LAWTON instruments.

LAWTON's modern production facility is located only a few kilometers away from Tuttlingen, which is known throughout the world as a centre for the production of surgical instruments.

LAWTON

MEDIZINTECHNIK

Careful selection of high-grade raw materials and consumables creates the basis for the high quality level of all LAWTON instruments. From machine preproduction to final inspection of the finished product, modern CNC controlled machining centres and newly developed production processes are guarantors of the high quality and functionality of LAWTON instruments.

The craftsman's skills and the trained eye of the surgical mechanic ensure perfect functioning and reliability of all LAWTON instruments.

Constant inspections during production and at the end of the production process guarantee reliability and functionality throughout the entire service life of all LAWTON instruments.

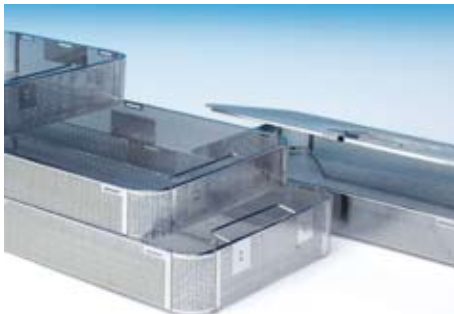

All instruments manufactured and sold by LAWTON bear the LAWTON logo and their individual article numbers as well as the European CE mark.
